

Brownie Detectives take over Broneirion

Over the weekend of the 13th-15th November 2015, Broneirion was taken over by Brownie Detectives. The Brownies were working on their Crime Prevention badge. The science of investigation was also included in the weekend and so the girls also obtained their Science Investigator badge. The weekend was filled with activities on how to protect the home and property, science experiments and crafts. The Brownies also tried their hands at archery, the climbing wall and had great fun in the zorbing balls.

The highlight of the weekend was a visit by two PCSO's from the local police and the girls keenly asked them lots of questions. We were shown their police car and all the equipment that they carried and they also made us all jump with the siren!!

A fun and eventful weekend was had by all our Detectives.

Posted: 15th December 2015